Civil Complaint pursuant to Title 28 U.S.C. §

COMPLAINT

Comes now, Randall Re acting ro se and respectfully submits the following of his complaint:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

This civil action arises from the inappropriate actions of all the Defendants in regards to the funds of the three Re children's individual trust accounts, (DECLARATION OF TRUST), referred to in this complaint as the "college trusts". These three trusts were established in 1994, intended for the sole purpose of college education for each of Re's children, exhibit "A".

Additionally, in 2004, an Illinois State 503(g) trust was setup for Re children's, child support, medical expenses and life insurance on the Plaintiff. See exhibit "G". (RE CHILDREN'S TRUST AGREEMENT), referred to in this complaint as the 503(g) trust.

Whereby, because of the Defendants' gross negligence, lack of fiduciary commitment, reckless disregard and willful default, the "college trusts" for the Re children have dwindled away to the point that the trusts are now empty.

JURISDICTION AND AUTHORITY

The District Court is the proper authority, and jurisdiction for this complaint under U.S.C. 28 § 1332 Diversity of Citizenship; amount in controversy; cost; (a) The district courts shall have original jurisdiction of all civil actions where the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and is between — (1) Citizens of different States;

VENUE

This venue is proper under 28 U.S.C. § 1391 Venue generally, (a).

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

There are three trusts, "DECLARATION OF TRUST", one for each Re child, "AMANDA MARIE RE", RANDALL GEORGE RE, II", and "RUSSELL GARRETT RE". All three trusts are worded the same, other than their name. See exhibit "A", which is for "RUSSELL GARRETT RE TRUST". These three separate trusts were each established in December of 1994, by the Plaintiff Randall Re and ex-wife, Defendant Rosemarie Re, the children's parents.

The parents were the decision makers of this instrument. The sole intention and objective of this legal instrument was for the Re children's college education.

The terminology of the trusts may reflect other language or usage, but the intendment and mission was unequivocally for the children's "college education". Defendant Rosemarie Re's motion from 12-13-02, supports and concurs with this belief, see exhibit "B", page 2, item 16 and 17. Page 3 of this motion reflects her "Verification By Certification", which states, "statements set forth in this instrument are true and correct, except as to matters therein stated to be on information and belief and as to such matters the undersigned certifies, as aforesaid, the belief that the same are true." dated 12-13-02 by Defendant Rosemarie A. Re.

Defendant George J. Vosicky, was the trustee from December of 1994 to on or about July 2003. The three Re children's trusts had jointly owned a warehouse in Woodridge, Illinois. Defendant George Vosicky and Rosemarie Re collaborated together, without Plaintiff Randall Re's knowledge to sell the children's warehouse, quietly and quickly, approximately $50,000 below market value. They needed to liquefy the children's asset of the warehouse, so Defendant Rosemarie Re could pay her excessive bills from the Re's divorce using funds from the warehouse sale. After the sale of the warehouse, each "college trust" had approximately $50,000.

While living in Illinois, in 1997, Defendant Rosemarie Re started divorce proceeding in DuPage County Illinois. In 2000 the divorce was granted. The Court should know that Defendant George Vosicky and Rosemarie Re were extremely close friends. Defendant Vosicky was recommended by the Defendant Rosemarie Re to be the trustee. Currently, RANDALL RE, II and RUSSELL RE's trust should have approximately $50,000.00 in each trust. AMANDA RE's trust should also have $50,000, however, Amanda Re did attend college, but the funds were withdrawn against court orders, as this complaint will reveal.

Defendant George Vosicky went along with Defendant Rosemarie Re's plan either knowingly or unknowingly, but with reckless disregard of his fiduciary commitment as the trustee and as an attorney at law and officer of the Court. Defendant George Vosicky relinquished his duties as trustee improperly to Defendant Donna Roberts, C.P.A., the new trustee, without any knowledge or approval by Plaintiff Randall Re, the father. Both Defendants took liberties and improprieties against the rules of the "DECLARATION OF TRUST", Article V, Section 5.2 Successor Trustee. NBD Bank, Trust Division should have been appointed trustee, or a bank or trust company or individual, "it shall be authorized by law to administer trusts, having a combined capital and surplus of $10,000,000." See exhibit "A", page 8.

The Plaintiff Randall Re was incarcerated in November of 2002. Since the conception of the "college trusts" in 1994 till sometime in or about 2003, no funds were removed. However, Defendant George Vosicky, trustee, approved medical expenses to be paid out, from 1997 to 2000 for all three children in the approximate amount of $26,000 combined. This was done in 2003, so the Plaintiff Randall Re would not be able to object to the pay out. However, the payment of these alleged medical bills went directly against three DuPage County Court orders. One stating, "May Not Invade Children's Trust", exhibit "C", dated October 2, 2001 by Judge Elsner and written by Defendant Rosemarie Re. A second Court order, exhibit "D", page 2, dated February 16, 2004 by Judge Equi stating, "since there was no evidence of medical bills incurred after the entry of judgment in 2002, there can be no order to pay them." Exhibit "E", dated May 6, 2004, "Concerning medical bills incurred after entry of the "Reconsidered" Judgment of March 17, 2000, there can be no order to pay them."

At all times Defendant Patricia deRosset, ESQ of the Office of the DuPage State's Attorney in DuPage County was not only aware of these court orders, but was present and on the mailing list of two of the court orders. See exhibits "D" and "E". Defendant Patricia deRosset's responsibility was to represent the children's welfare and their best interest. At no time has Defendant deRosset ever returned a response to Plaintiff Randall Re's letters, requesting a record of child support payment. See exhibit "F", two letters from Plaintiff Randall Re.

Defendant Connie Gessner, attorney and the children's Guardian Ad Litem, was paid to represent Re's children on their behalf and for their best interests. Defendant Connie Gessner was not always the Re children's Guardian Ad Litem, only when Defendant Rosemarie Re needed her. Defendant Connie Gessner had no communication with the Re children's father, Plaintiff Randall Re. Defendant Connie Gessner turned a blind eye to the Re children's "college trust" fund mismanagement and activities. There was total disregard to her fiduciary as an Guardian Ad Litem, as an attorney of law, and as an officer of the Court.

In addition to the three "college trusts", exhibit "A", another single trust was established for child support, medical bills and for Plaintiff Randall Re's term life insurance policy. This trust is an Illinois 503(g) trust agreement which was established in May of 2004, pursuant to a court order entered in the Circuit Court of the Eighteenth Judicial Circuit, Dupage County, Wheaton, Illinois case of In Re the Marriage of Rosemarie Re vs Randall Re, Case No. 97 D 285, see exhibit "G", "RE CHILDREN'S TRUST AGREEMENT", referred to as the 503(g) trust. This trust does not include Re's daughter, Amanda Re due to the fact by this date, Amanda Re had turned 18 years of age.

This 503(g) trust states, "The purpose of this Trust is to provide for the support of Russell Garrett Re and Randall George Re...Such support shall include expenditures for:

1. Child support as ordered by the Court;
2. Major medical insurance premiums from January 30, 2002 to August 22, 2009;
3. Premium for a term life insurance policy insuring the life of their father Randall Re through August 22, 2009."

Plaintiff Randall Re funded this 503(g) trust in the approximate amount of $46,000, exhibit "G", page 6. Child support was calculated by Defendants Donna Roberts, C.P.A., trustee and Patricia deRosset, States attorney and Terry O'Donnell, Plaintiff Randall Re's attorney. Defendant Patricia deRosset, A.S.A. was to arrange all the payments of child support with Defendant Donna Roberts. the trustee, from the 503(g) trust.

Per the 503(g) trust, the amount of $33,800 was set aside for child support, to be paid, May 2004 to August 2009, exhibit "G", page 6. Defendants Rosemarie Re and Patricia deRosset misinformed the Court about Russell Re's age. Russell Garrett Re turns 18 years of age on August 22, 2008 not 2009, therefore the child support and medical expenses should stop on Russell Re's eighteen birthday not one year later.

Per the 503(g) trust, exhibit "G", page 6, the amount of $2,302 was set aside for Plaintiff Randall Re's term life insurance policy. Plaintiff Randall Re has never seen any insurance policy and has not noted any payment to any insurance company for any term life policy in any accounting.

Per the 503(g) trust, exhibit "G", page 6, the amount of $10,322 was set aside for medical insurance premiums; specifically, that Defendant Rosemarie Re would not incur any medical expenses.

As of 2006, all letters requesting an accounting of the 503(g) trust were to no avail. On January 20, 2006, Plaintiff Randall Re received a court order for an accounting of all trusts, the "college trusts" and the 503(g). See exhibit "H" for court order. The "college trusts" accounting exhibits are as follows: exhibit "I" is Amanda Re's, exhibit "J" is Randall Re, II's, and exhibit "K" is Russell Re's. The 503(g) trust accounting is exhibit "L". The accounting of the three "college trust" funds reflect inappropriate disbursements in conflict with DuPage County Court orders and irregularities against the regulation of the trust agreement. Such as:

1. All three college trust funds have medical expenses paid from 1997 to 2000, "approval of prior trustee George Vosicky", directly against three separate Court orders. See page 4 of December 31, 2003, accounting exhibit of each "college trust", "I", "J" and "K", highlighted. Defendant Donna Roberts, the current trustee was not allowed to pay these expenditures, per the court orders, exhibits "C", "D", and "E", from the "college trusts". Defendant Roberts paid these expenditures per order of Defendant George Vosicky's prior approval. Please note Defendant Rosemarie Re's close friend was Defendant George Vosicky, the prior trustee.
2. The Court will note throughout the accounting of the "college trusts," exhibits "I", "J", and "K", there are medical expenses which are suppose to be paid out of the 503(g) trust, see exhibit "G".

3. The accounting of the "college trusts" reflect improper disbursements in regards to child support. The Child support payments should be withdrawn from the 503(g) trust, see exhibit "G". Not only was child support taken improperly, but the payments were doubled and tripled in some instances. The child support payments are to be $700 per month from 5/19/04 ending 1/19/05, then $500 per month from 2/19/05 ending 8/22/09, see exhibit "G", page 7 and exhibit "M", page 2.

The "college trusts", exhibits "I", "J" and "K", Amanda, Randall II, and Russell, respectfully, on page 3 of the December 31, 2003, each exhibit reflects the same dated child support payment per child, triple payments of $400.

On pages 4 of exhibits "J" and "K", October and November of 2003, again on pages 3 and 4 of December 31, 2004. All double payments of $500 per child per month.

Donna Roberts, C.P.A., trustee, was made aware of these discrepancies in a letter from Plaintiff Randall Re, dated September 4, 2006, exhibit "N".

Other irregularities and inappropriate disbursements, which are highlighted, are: the payment of an apartment, all furnishings and expenses related for an apartment; payment for a vehicle and all related expenses, for Randall Re II, a minor and still attending high school at the time.

Amanda Re did attend college, which was the conceived and intended purpose of these "college trusts" by the "decision makers", her parents. However, the expenditures on all medical expenses or unrelated expenses, directly related to "college education" should not be allowed and returned.

With the Court's further review of the accounting, it will note a total collapse and plundering of the Re children's "college trust" funds, in less than a three year period, from 2003 to 2006. The Plaintiff Randall Re has been incarcerated since November 2002. The accounting will reveal, on it's face value, a complete gross negligence and total reckless disregard of the appropriateness of all the disbursements of Randall II and Russell Re's "college trust" funds, and a vast majority of Amanda Re's "college trust" fund.

There was a general pattern and practice of showing intend to manipulate the figures , regulations of the trust documents, and facts in the aspects of these "college trust" fund's accounting.

AMOUNT OF CLAIM

Plaintiff Randall Re seeks compensatory damages in the amount of $175,000 to $200,000 to be paid jointly by the defendants and punitive damages of $25,000 from each defendant severable.

DECLARATION OF TRUST

RUSSELL GARRETT RE TRUST

We, RANDALL GEORGE RE and ROSEMARIE ANN RE, transfer to, GEORGE J. VOSICKY, of Lisle, Illinois, as trustee (collectively referred to as the trustee), the property described in the attached schedule. That property and any other property that may be received by the trustee shall be held and disposed of as follows:

ARTICLE I

Nature of Agreement

1.1 Irrevocable Trusts. This instrument and any trust created hereunder are irrevocable and unamendable.

1.2 Additions to Trust. I or any other person may add property to the trust from time to time by lifetime or testamentary gifts.

ARTICLE II

Disposition of Trust Property

The trustee shall hold and dispose of the trust property as follows:

2.1 During Russell's Lifetime. During the life of RUSSELL GARRETT RE ("Russell"), the trustee may pay to or use for the benefit of Russell so much or all of the income and principal of his trust as the trustee from time to time determines to be required or desirable for his support, care, education, comfort and welfare. Any income not so paid shall be added to principal.

2.2 Right of Withdrawal. At such time as Russell attains the age of twenty-one years, the trustee shall notify him that he has the right to withdraw any portion or all of the trust property, as then constituted, during the period beginning with his twenty-first birthday and ending on the sixtieth day after the last to occur of his twenty-first birthday and the date of such notice. Failure to give or receive such notice shall not prevent Russell from exercising his right to withdraw pursuant to this Section 2.2. To the extent Russell does not exercise his right to withdraw the trust property, the trust shall continue upon the same terms and conditions as specified in Section 2.1. After Russell attains the age of twenty-five years he may from time to time withdraw up to, and his total aggregate withdrawals may not exceed, one-third of the value of the trust as constituted on his twenty-fifth birthday. After attaining the age of thirty years, Russell may from time to time withdraw any portion or all of the trust property.

2.3 In the Event of Russell's Death. Upon Russell's death the trustee shall distribute his trust, as then constituted, to, or in trust for the benefit of, such person or persons, or Russell's own estate, upon such conditions and estates, with such powers, in such manner and at such time or times as he appoints and directs by will specifically referring to this power of appointment. To the extent he does not effectively exercise his power of appointment, upon his death the trustee shall distribute his trust to his then living descendants, per stirpes, or if there are none, to my then living descendants, per stirpes, or if there are none, to those persons who would have been entitled to receive my personal property under the laws of Illinois in effect at the date of this instrument had I died intestate with no surviving spouse immediately after Russell's death, and in the proportions that would be determined upon those laws.

2.4 Retention in Trust for Certain Beneficiaries. If any beneficiary to whom the trustee is directed in a preceding provision to distribute any share of trust principal is under the age of twenty-one years when the distribution is to be made, and if the trustee is not otherwise directed in this instrument to hold such share in trust, the beneficiary's share shall vest in interest indefeasibly, but the trustee may continue to hold it as a separate trust for such period of time as the trustee deems advisable, but not after the time the beneficiary reaches twenty-one years of age. In the meantime the trustee may use for the benefit of the beneficiary so much of the income and principal as the trustee may determine to be required for the beneficiary's support, care, education, comfort and welfare, adding any income not so paid to principal.

ARTICLE III

Construction and Administration

3.1 Disposition of Accrued and Undistributed Income. Unless otherwise specifically provided in this instrument, upon the death of any beneficiary any accrued or undistributed income shall be held and accounted for, or distributed, in the same manner as if it had been received and accrued after the beneficiary's death.

3.2 Discretionary Acts. Whenever the trustee "may" perform a certain act, the trustee may or may not perform that act in the trustee's sole discretion, guided by any applicable standards in this instrument. In determining whether and to what extent to make discretionary payments of income or principal to or for the benefit of any beneficiary, the trustee shall take into account any other property or sources of income or support of the beneficiary known to the trustee. My primary concern in establishing the trust hereunder is for the benefit of the current beneficiary, and the trustee need not consider the interests of any remainder beneficiaries in making distributions to or for the benefit of the current beneficiary and may, unless otherwise provided, exhaust the principal of a trust. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary herein, the exercise of discretion with respect to payments of income and principal may not be delegated by the trustee.

3.3 Spendthrift Provision. No interest under this instrument shall be transferable or assignable by any beneficiary or be subject during his life to the claims of his creditors, including, without limitation, any private, local, state or federal government agency which may have provided services for any beneficiary or to any claim for alimony, maintenance or support of any former spouse from whom he is divorced or of any spouse from whom he is legally separated. Any right of withdrawal granted under this instrument shall be a privilege which may be exercised only voluntarily and shall not include an involuntary exercise. This paragraph shall not restrict the exercise of any power of appointment.

3.4 Trustee's Compensation. Any trustee shall be entitled to reasonable compensation for services in administering and distributing the trust property, and to reimbursement for expenses.

3.5 Waiver of Bond and Court Supervision. No trustee shall be required to give any bond as trustee; to qualify before, be appointed by or in the absence of breach of trust to account to any court; or to obtain the order or approval of any court in the exercise of any power or discretion.

3.6 Payments to Trustee. No person paying money or delivering any property to any trustee need see to its application.

3.7 Reliance by Trustee. The trustee may rely upon any notice, certificate, affidavit, letter, telegram or other paper or document which the trustee believes to be genuine, or upon any evidence deemed by the trustee to be sufficient, in making any payment or distribution. The trustee shall incur no liability for any payment or distribution made in good faith and without actual notice or knowledge of a changed condition or status affecting any person's interest in the trust.

3.8 Definitions and Certain Rules of Construction.

(a) Headings. The headings used herein are for convenience only, are not part of the article, section or subsection to which they relate and are not to be used in construing the legal intent of this instrument.

(b) Gender and Number. Whenever the context requires or permits, the gender of a word, whether masculine, feminine or neuter, shall be interchangeable, and words used in a plural or collective sense shall include the singular and vice versa.

(c) Hereunder. Whenever the word "hereunder" is used in this instrument, it shall refer to the entire instrument, not merely to the article, section or subsection in which it appears.

3.9 Accountings. Upon the written request of the beneficiary of any trust, the trustee shall furnish an annual accounting showing the receipts, disbursements and inventory of that trust.

3.10 Controlling Law. The administration of any trust created by this instrument and the dispositions made in each such trust shall be construed and regulated and their validity and effect shall be determined by the law of Illinois.

ARTICLE IV

To make any distribution or division of the trust property in cash or in kind or both; to select assets to be sold as necessary to satisfy required cash payments and distributions, without being required to minimize the tax consequences thereof; to purchase an annuity contract or other property for the benefit of a beneficiary to whom a distribution is to be made; to allocate in accordance with values determined by the trustee different kinds or disproportionate shares of property or undivided interests in property among the beneficiaries or trusts, and no adjustment shall be made to compensate for a disproportionate allocation of unrealized gain for federal income tax purposes; to loan money to a beneficiary, or guarantee a loan from a third party to a beneficiary, upon such terms and conditions, and with such security, as the trustee determines to be appropriate;

4.13 Merger of Trusts. To commingle or merge two or more trusts, one or more of which is created under this instrument and the other or others of which are created by me or others under this or other instruments for the primary benefit of the same person or persons and the terms and conditions of which are substantially the same;

4.14 Change of Situs. To transfer the assets of any trust to another situs and to appoint as a special trustee any person or corporation authorized by law to administer trusts such as those created herein and to remove any special trustee and reappoint the original trustee;

4.15 Principal and Income. To determine in accordance with the Principal and Income Act in effect at the time of the determination of the jurisdiction the laws of which then control the administration of the trust, or in an equitable manner in those cases not then clearly covered by that law, the allocation or apportionment of all receipts and disbursements between income and principal, provided, however, that the trustee shall not establish a reserve, or otherwise make an allowance, for the depreciation of real estate;

The payment of proceeds to the trustee and the receipt of the trustee shall be in full discharge of the liability of any insurance company, which need not take notice of this instrument or see to the application of any payment);

4.17 Tax and Other Elections. To exercise any election under any tax law as the trustee deems advisable, with no adjustment to be made between principal and income or in the relative interests of the beneficiaries to compensate for the effect of any such election made by any fiduciary hereunder;

ARTICLE V

Trustees

5.1 Resignation. The trustee may resign by giving written notice, specifying the effective date of the resignation, to the successor trustee. Any other trustee may resign by giving written notice, specifying the effective date of the resignation, to the beneficiaries to whom the trustee is then to or may distribute income, to any co-trustees and to any designated successor trustee.

5.2 Successor Trustee.

(a) Successor. If GEORGE J. VOSICKY is unable to act as trustee, I appoint NBD BANK, TRUST DIVISION, located in Park Ridge, Illinois, as trustee in his place (collectively referred to as the trustee). If NBD BANK, TRUST DIVISION, or any successor trustee appointed in its place is unable to act as trustee, a successor trustee shall be appointed by an instrument signed by a majority in number of the beneficiaries to whom the trustee is then to or may distribute the income. Each successor so appointed shall be an individual or a bank or trust company, and if a bank or trust company, it shall be authorized by law to administer trusts, having a combined capital and surplus of $10,000,000. The grantors, their descendants, or anyone who is dependent upon a grantor or descendant, may not be appointed a successor trustee.

5.3. Delegation to Co-Trustee. Any trustee may at any time by a signed instrument delivered to the remaining trustee delegate to that trustee all powers and discretion under this instrument, including the power to convey real property, either for a specified time, until the delegation is revoked by a similar instrument, or irrevocably. Any person dealing with a trustee having received such delegation may rely without inquiry upon the trustee's certificate with respect to any delegation.

5.4 Trust Property in Foreign Jurisdiction. If at any time any trust property is situated in a jurisdiction in which any trustee is unable or unwilling to act, any trustee able or willing to act or, if none, such person or corporation as may be appointed by the trustee or trustees herein appointed (the "principal trustee") shall act as trustee with respect to that property, and such trustee and every successor trustee so appointed shall exercise the powers granted by this instrument only with the approval of the principal trustee. The net income from that property and any net proceeds of its sale shall be paid over to the principal trustee.

5.5 Release and Discharge of Trustee. The approval of the accounts of any trustee, in an instrument signed by a majority in number of the beneficiaries to whom the trustee is to or may distribute the income at the time of approval, shall be a complete release and discharge of the trustee with respect to the administration of the trust property for the period covered by such accounts, binding upon all persons.

5.6 No Liability for Acts of Predecessor Trustee. No successor trustee shall be personally liable for any act or omission of any predecessor trustee. Any successor trustee may accept without examination or review the accounts rendered and the property delivered by or for a predecessor trustee without incurring any liability or responsibility. Any successor trustee shall have all the title, powers and discretion of the trustee succeeded, without the necessity of any conveyance or transfer.

5.7 Beneficiary Under Disability. The guardian or conservator of the estate of a beneficiary under legal disability, or the parents or surviving parent or guardian of the person of a minor beneficiary for whose estate no guardian has been appointed, may, in carrying out the provisions of this article, act and receive notice for the beneficiary and sign any instrument for him.

5.8 Inability to Act. The term "unable to act" used with respect to any fiduciary shall mean the inability of that fiduciary to act, whether prior to or subsequent to assuming office, by reason of death, resignation, physical or mental incompetence, refusal to act, failure to qualify under the laws of the appropriate jurisdiction, removal from office by a court of competent jurisdiction or, if so provided, removal by the terms of this instrument.

5.9 Corporate Trustee. Any corporate trustee shall be the custodian of the trust property and of the books and records of the trustees. Any corporate trustee may perform for the trustees all acts necessary for the acquisition and transfer of personal property and money, including the signing and endorsement of checks, receipts, stock certificates and other instruments, and no person need inquire into the propriety of any such act.

Re: In re the Marriage of Re, 97 D 285

Counselors and Ms. Re:

The matter comes before the court for ruling on various motion. In reaching the conclusions set forth herein, the court considers the evidence presented, the exhibits offered and received, the evidentiary deposition of Randall Re, all applicable statutory and other factors, and the law as applicable to the facts. The court reaches these conclusions without a long and involved history of the case, but rather based upon the pleadings and the evidence adduced at the hearing. To the extent that arguments may go beyond the evidence adduced at the hearing, the court is duty-bound to ignore those arguments.

None of the matters are extraordinarily complicated. The court can consider Ms. Re's Petition to Increase Child Support and Mr. Re's Petition to Abate Child Support simultaneously. Mr. Re seeks an abatement based upon his incarceration and therefore his "inability" to generate income from which the child support should be paid. Mr. Re is possessed of assets, however, from which support can be paid. Further, his incarceration was the result of a voluntary act on his part, and does not justify an abatement of support. Mr. Re's Petition to Abate is therefore denied.

There is, however, no substantial change in circumstances that is sufficient to justify an increase in support. While it is true that the children have gotten older, Amanda is also now attending college (the subject of an additional petition) and certainly Mr. Re's income has not increased. Therefore Ms. Re's Petition to Increase Child Support is likewise denied.

Ex "D"

The court finds that a trust pursuant to 750 ILCS 5/503(g) is an appropriate and necessary vehicle to secure the payment of support. Mr. Re has otherwise no incentive to pay the support from his remaining assets. His incarceration makes enforcement of child support via contempt completely ineffective. The support cannot be secured by an order of withholding. The only way to protect the payment of that support is by the creation of a fund from which the support is paid. At the court's request the Office of the State's Attorney calculated the amount of support. Absent any objection, the amount designated will be placed in a 503(g) trust and support paid there from¹. Any appreciation in the trust principal will be applied toward the college costs of Russell, and if there are no college costs, then returned to Mr. Re.

The court next turns to the issue of medical bills and medical insurance. Much of Ms. Re's argument in this regard relates more to events occurring prior to the entry of judgment. Absent a viable motion to vacate the judgment of dissolution, this court is limited in the relief that can be granted to that permitted by the judgment or any proper modification thereof. Accordingly, since there was no evidence of medical bills incurred after the entry of judgment in 2002 there can be no order to pay them². With respect to the payment of medical insurance premiums, however, the court's review of the orders indicates that Mr. Re is obligated to pay for major medical insurance pursuant to the "Reconsidered" judgment of March 17, 2000. Upon presentation by Ms. Re of evidence of the cost, an additional amount to cover the premiums through August 2009 will be placed in the 503(g) trust. The trust is an appropriate vehicle here for the same reasons as set forth for child support. Similarly, the cost of a term policy of life insurance shall be placed in the trust. Ms. Re indicates that the policy is a whole life policy; the cost of a term policy can be calculated and that amount only placed in the trust, sufficient to cover premiums through August 2009.

Each party shall submit his, her, or its suggestion for trustee of the 503(g) trust. Should the Office of the State's Attorney be willing to perform the function the court would appoint that office. Otherwise the court will be forced to select a trustee or trustees from the suggestions of the parties. Those suggestions should be presented to the court on the March 5 status date, and can then either be inserted into an order, or ultimately be included in a trust document which will be prepared.

The court next turns to Ms. Re's request for maintenance. Clearly she incurs very substantial medical expenses, beyond the incomes on most families. Just as clearly, Mr. Re presently is in no position to pay any maintenance. This court can, however, upon Ms. Re's Petition, continue the reservation of maintenance for an additional ten-year period, until February 15, 2014. Mr. Re has a proven ability to earn substantial sums, and therefore may be in a position to pay maintenance in the future. But for this extension of the reservation period, Ms. Re's Petition is denied.

¹ However, there is no cost of living adjustment contemplated by the statute or case law.

² The court will concede that the serial judgments entered herein are less than crystal clear, and leave room for doubt. If the evidence at the trial or hearing, of $113,000 in debt incurred by Ms. Re, included all medical bills (as the court believes is the case) then she is not entitled in this action to go behind that order.

The court has also considered Mr. Re's Petition regarding personal property. The court concludes that Mr. Re has failed to meet his burden as to the "disputed" personal property, and therefore his petition is denied.

Lastly, the court notes Ms. Re's closing argument concerning the cost of college. In her closing she states "When additional assets are found, Plaintiff will be requesting Defendant to participate in the shortfall..." Based upon Amanda's present scholarship and Ms. Re's closing argument, the court reserves any 513 determination.

Ms. deRosset and Mr. O'Donnell are to prepare the calculations required herein, and then an order consistent herewith for presentation, with notice to Ms. Re. The matter is set for status on March 5, 2004 at 9:25 am without further notice.

Very Truly Yours,

Rodney W. Equi

ORDER

THIS MATTER coming before the Court for hearing on various motions, the Court, based upon evidence presented, exhibits offered and received, the evidentiary deposition of Randall Re, all applicable statutory and other factors and the law as applicable to the facts,

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

1. That Mr. Re's Petition to Abate Child Support is denied. Mr. Re seeks his abatement based on his incarceration and his "inability" to generate income from which the child support should be paid. Mr. Re has assets, however, from which support can be paid; and, further, his incarceration was the result of a voluntary act on his part.
2. Mrs. Re's Petition to Increase Child Support is denied. There is no substantial change in circumstances sufficient to justify an increase in support. While the children have gotten older, Amanda is now attending college and Mr. Re's income has not increased.
3. Petition to Establish a 503(g) Trust to secure payment of support is granted. The amount of $~~24,500.00~~ 23,830.00 shall be placed in the 503(g) Trust which represents child support from March 20, 2004 until August 22, 2009. Child support shall be paid monthly from the 503(g) Trust. Any appreciation in the Trust principal will be applied toward the college costs of Russell, and if there are no college costs, then returned to Mr. Re.
4. Concerning medical bills and medical insurance, since there was no evidence of medical bills incurred after the entry of the "Reconsidered" Judgment of March 17, 2000, there can be no order to pay them. Mr. Re, however, is obligated to pay for major medical insurance pursuant to the "Reconsidered" Judgment of March 17, 2000. Premiums in the amount of $ 10,322.46 shall be placed in the 503(g) Trust to cover medical premiums from January 20, 2004 to August 22, 2009. The amount of $ 2305.00 shall also be placed in the 503(g) to cover the premiums for a term policy of life insurance through August 22, 2009.

EXHIBIT

5. Mrs. Re's Petition for Maintenance is denied but the court continues the reservation of maintenance for an additional ten (10) years period until February 15, 2014.

6. Mr. Re's Petition regarding personal property is denied as Mr. Re has failed to meet his burden.

7. Any 513 determinations concerning college costs are reserved.

8. The trustee appointed to administer the 503(g) Trust is Donna Roberts. The 503(g) Trust ~~shall be~~ ^{has been} prepared by Ekroth and Osborne, Ltd.

9. The Court has reviewed the trust pursuant to 735 ILCS 503(g) and has found the trust complies with ~~the~~ ^{the} requirements of 503(g).

RE: Re v. Re Case No. 97-D-285
Children Trust Fund and 503g Trust

Ms. Roberts:

I have prepared this letter to bring to your attention to several issues that relate to the trusts under your authority as trustee.

The first issue relates to the disbursements made by you from the Re Children's Trust Fund. Enclosed is a court order issued on October 2, 2001, stating that the funds, "May Not Inade Children's Trust". This order refers to the three separate children's trust funds because the 503g trust was not in existence at the time of that court order. What was your basis for invading the children's trust funds? I am certain that either Mrs. Re, George Vosicky, the prior trustee, or even Pat deRosset of the State's Attorneys office, made you aware of the court order. The order was written by Mrs. Re and signed by Judge Elsner in DuPage County, Illinois.

Next, I have enclosed a court order signed on February 16, 2004 by Judge Equi stating that no medical bills or medical insurance premiums incurred prior to the entry of the judgment of dissolution of the marriage which occurred in 2002 are to be paid from trusts. Mrs. Re has sole responsibility for these medical bills not the trusts. I have enclosed a copy of the order. Refer to page two, paragraph two. Medical bills prior to 2002 are specifically excluded.

In your accounting for the Children's Trusts you indicate the following entry, "Rosemarie Re - Reimbursement for medical expenses for Amanda, Randall II and Ruessell Re from 1997 to 200 paid by Rosemarie Re per approval of prior trustee, George Vosicky". Could you send me a copy of the approval given by George Vosicky?

Lastly, in your accounting you appear to make double payments for child support. The ordered payments were for $700.00/month for two child not $700.00 per child. Please clarify if I am misreading the accounting that you provided me.

Please respond to me at the address below. Thank you for your assistance and cooperation on these issues.

Sincerely,

Randall Re
